

About Us

Providence Farm Collective (PFC) has its roots in the Somali Bantu Community Farm, a three-year pilot project. The pilot explored the challenges and opportunities of addressing fresh food insecurity and farmland inequity. PFC supports under-served farmers in Western New York needing access to clean, rural farmland, farming and business education, technical assistance, access to markets, and the opportunity to farm for income. PFC also offers youth education and employment programs.

Our Mission

Cultivating farmer-led and community-rooted agriculture and food systems to actualize the rights of under-resourced peoples.

FARM Programs

INCUBATOR

This 3-year program provides farmers the opportunity to start their own farm business. Each farmer receives a 1/4 acre of plowed, fenced, and fertilized farmland. Farmers also receive access to 20+ agricultural and business workshops per year, 1-on-1 technical assistance, marketing opportunities, tools, seeds, and plants.

COMMUNITY ORGANIZATION

Community organizations receive 1/2- to 5-acre plots of prepared farmland. Participating organizations also receive access to agricultural resources and educational opportunities. Organizations focus on building food security and increased access to traditional foods within their communities.

DEMONSTRATION FARM PLOT

Hands-on training sessions take place on our demonstration farm throughout the growing season. Our demonstration plot also promotes food security and supports our mission by selling produce to wholesale outlets that serve communities in need of fresh food.
