

Collective Hands

Providence Farm Collective (PFC) uniquely supports Black, immigrant, refugee, and low income farmers in Western New York who cannot otherwise access farmland. PFC farmers grow fresh nutritious produce with cultural significance for their families and communities.

Through Collective Hands we hope to share with you the passion that surrounds the work of PFC as it supports change in food and agriculture systems and promotes social, environmental, and economic sustainability.

Collective Hands First Year of Participation

- Commit to raising $2,000 to support Providence Farm Collective
- Commit to attending seven events during the year
 - Attend orientation (January/February)
 - Create a fundraising event to benefit PFC (March/April)
 - Attend 2 Community Volunteer Days
 - Attend 2 PFC Farmers Market Saturdays
 - Work with Hamadi Ali during 2 Monday Market Stand days
 - Celebrate your achievements at the Harvest & Gratitude Celebration
 - Meet with the Farmer Advisory Committee
- Build your network through events, tours, and professional development sessions
- Nominate a fellow Collective Hands participant to mentor after you reach your goals
- Join your fellow Collective Hands members to form community through get-togethers, happy hours, volunteer opportunities, and group projects

Collective Hands Second Year of Participation

- Mentor a new Collective Hands member and continue to support PFC's mission and vision
- Commit to raising $1,000 to support PFC
- Attend six (6) events throughout the year
 - Farm tour and orientation
 - Network with PFC board members at 2 board meetings
 - Attend a presentation and discussion by one of PFC's partners or farmers
 - Work with Chef Sharif to prepare and serve lunch during a farm tour
 - Help build the PFC network by inviting a friend to attend a farm tour or fundraising event with you